

Abstract

Pride is an important and distinguished phenomenon in the Arabic society before Islam . This importance lasted after the imergence of Islam and the establishment of the Islamic states . The Andalusian society was highly influenced by the different convintions , values and tendencies brought by the Islamic conquerors . This study deals with pride in Andalus, and its role in the crucial events on the political , intellectual or social levels , and how this phenomenon is reflected in the Andalusian history .

The thesis is divided , due to the nature of the topic , into an introduction and six chapters .

Chapter One " Pride , its Definition , Motivations , and Types " contains Four themes, viz . I- pride Linguistically and Conventionally . II Pride in the holly Quran and Sunna , III . the Motivations behind pride . and VI . Types of pride .

Chapter Two , which is entitled " The Political Pride in Andalus " , Contains Four main topics : I .The Tribal Pride . II. Racial Pride ,III. Political boasting between Andalus and East , and IV. The Pride of Rulers , Ministers and Predominant .

Chapter Three , " The Intellectual Boasting in Andalus " Contains two topics : I .The Boasting between Andalusians and Easterns and II. Intelectual Results of Pride .

Chapter Four is entitled " Religious , Social and Economical Pride . It contains three subjects : I . Social Pride , II . Religions Pride , and III . Economical Pride .

Chapter Five , which is devoted to environmental and civilization Pride , contains two themes : I . Environmental Pride and II civilizational Pride .

Chapter Six is entitled " The Effects of Pride " contains Four topics :
I .The Intellectual Effects , II . Political Effects , III . The economical
Effect , and VI . The social Effect .